INVITES YOU TO

DISRUPTING THE SYSTEM V

Join us for a provocative conversation to spark positive change.

THIS YEAR’S DISRUPTIVE CONVERSATIONS

The Dirty Little Secret in Healthcare: How Insurance Impacts Your Cancer Journey
Did you know when people are diagnosed with cancer, their ability to access treatment and surgeries more often comes down to the type of insurance they have? In this panel, we’ll talk about how often this happens, what it means for patients and most importantly - what can be done to change it.

Reporting Cancer Clinical Trial Patient Participation: Why FDA Guidance is Not Enough
Did you know the FDA doesn’t mandate reporting of race and ethnicity in clinical trials? Lack of participant data results in the absence of information on risks and side effects for patients of color - even for treatment of cancers that predominantly affect patients of color. We’ll dig into what’s happening now and what can be done to ensure that all drugs are safe, effective and equitable.

JUNE 15, 2022, 2-4PM PT/5-7PM ET
Register for free
www.eventbrite.com/e/disrupting-the-system-v-tickets-324896312617

We'll talk about how insurance affects patients' ability to access treatment and what can be done to change it to improve care for all.

Sharrelle Barber, ScD, MPH, Drexel University
Jane Garcia, CEO, Clínica de la Raza
Richard N. Gottfried, New York State Assembly Member
Dr. Adrian Newson, Director of Oncology, Vanderbilt University Medical Center

Reporting Cancer Clinical Trial Patient Participation: Why FDA Guidance is Not Enough

We'll dig into lack of clinical trial participant data and what can be done to ensure that all drugs are safe, effective and equitable.

Rhonda Long, Cancer survivor, Lazarex client
Alicia Staley, VP Patient Engagement, Medidata
Dr. Marya Shegog, PhD, MPH, Health Equity & Diversity Coord., Lazarex